Investing in Infrastructures: New Technologies, Sustainability, and Regulatory Challenges

Naples, 30th and 31st May 2024

Host Institution: Department of Economics and Statistics, University of Naples Federico II

Workshop Venue: Conference Center, via Partenope 36, 80121, Napoli

The workshop's primary focus is on the challenges and opportunities linked to investments in infrastructure and regulatory initiatives amid swift technological and organizational transformations. We especially welcome papers that examine the impact of digitalization on traditional and emerging sectors, with a focus on regulatory implications and investment opportunities. Additionally, we encourage submissions that assess regulatory strategies and investments for managing the transition to greener economies, as well as analyses that scrutinize concerns about the accessibility of essential services.

We welcome submissions on all topics within NERI's scope, especially those aligned with the workshop's theme and those adopting a behavioral economics perspective. Giacomo Ponzetto (CREI, UPF and Barcelona School of Economics) and Marco Leonardi (Università Statale di Milano) have confirmed their participation as keynote speakers at the workshop.

Authors are invited to submit their papers to neri.workshop@gmail.com by April 10, 2024, and will receive notification of decision by April 24, 2024.
